

pCODR Informational Webinar for Patient Advocacy Groups

April 2, 2013

Hello,

The pan-Canadian Oncology Drug Review (pCODR) is an evidence-based cancer drug review process, designed to bring consistency and clarity to the assessment of cancer drugs by looking at clinical evidence, patient perspectives and cost-effectiveness. The information that results from this process is used to provide recommendations to provinces and territories to guide their drug funding decisions.

We invite patient advocacy groups to participate in an informational webinar on April 30, 2013 from 2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. (EDT) to learn more about pCODR.

The specific objectives of this informational webinar are to:

- provide an overview of the pCODR process
- explain how patient advocacy groups can provide input on a drug submission to pCODR

We will not be discussing any particular drug nor are we in a position to offer advice on drug access. Your provincial cancer care program should be able to answer questions of this nature.

We hope you will be able to join us at this information session. The contributions of patient advocacy groups continue to be valuable to the pCODR process. Please confirm your attendance at the information session via e-mail: rsvp@pcodr.ca by April 26, 2013.
